

What is RJ Working?

Community

RJ Working exists to equip young people with the principles, language and confidence to build a more compassionate and fair society

Uniquely, in Devon, Cornwall and the Isles of Scilly we have achieved all three of the UK Restorative Justice Council's Quality Marks

Young People in the Lead

At RJ Working we:

Believe every young person should have the right to access Restorative principles as part of their education

Recognise the value of young people's complex lived experience and the potential of Restorative practice to empower their leadership

Use Restorative practice training to equip young people to better look after themselves and each other, in person and online

Support young people's commitment to tackling harms to identity, especially racism, and their commitment to climate justice.

Creativity

Restorative simply means 'making things better'

This is essentially a creative process which lends itself to exploration through drama, art and film

Tackling Inequality

Four local women set up RJ Working in 2012 to develop and share the benefits of Restorative practice in Cornwall & the Isles of Scilly.

These benefits include increased social cohesion and shared language for problem-solving challenges such as conflict, differences of opinion and identity, social divisions and inequalities.

Restorative Approaches to Nature, Environment & Climate

One of the charitable purposes of RJ Working is environmental protection using Restorative practice to educate and build community to prevent environmental harm.
