

RJ Working: Highlights

Community

RJ Working apprenticed itself to Ulster University in 2014, drawing on the expertise of global leaders

The Princess Royal met with Cornwall & IOS children at Truro Cathedral in 2018 to celebrate their use of Restorative practice

Young People in the Lead

Yasmine Fosu: Overall Student Employee of the Year 2022 at Exeter University

She achieved an influential role, led the design of a new training "Tackling Racism Restoratively", then its development and delivery through 2021.

Yasmine joined RJ Working's Board of Trustees in October 2021

Creativity

RJ Working initiated and supported Cube Theatre's impressive 2016 tour of After The Accident by Julian Armistead

Tackling Inequality

There is a growing recognition that the cognitive learning which is essential to children and young people's educational attainment, depends on them first feeling safe and being resilient, socially and emotionally.

Restorative Approaches to Nature, Environment & Climate

Trebah Garden is the ideal crucible for young people to achieve wellbeing through a Restorative relationship with nature. They then collectively plan how to become Nature Champions in their school community.
